

CREATIVE DESIGNER IN BERLIN, GERMANY (M/F/D)

Inuru is an award-winning high-tech company and manufacturer of active packaging and labelling products, that are capable of lighting up, warning on expiry date, displaying small animation and even video in future.

Our products fill the need of brands in the field of Fast-Moving-Consumer-Goods for a personalized brand experience and a better shelf visibility in retail and for home delivery. Amongst Inuru's customers are the most valuable brands worldwide.

To support the growth of the company we are searching for a Creative Designer to be hired from the first quarter of 2021.

YOUR TASKS

- development and implementation of concepts consisting of standard products (such as packaging, print product or other consumer products) and integrated electronics
- Creative and non-standard proposals for new newscases and applications, implementation of presentations with common, graphic programs to support the sales process
- Communicate product development and customers as appropriate to implement products

YOUR SKILLS

- Creative, out of the box approach that is shocking and provocative
- Existing portfolio of concepts for promotional packaging campaigns or product campaigns
- High level of aesthetic and user understanding to translate complicated technical content into light visual language
- Ideally already experience as creative manager, creative designer, creative director in agencies for advertising, packaging, event, or product design at large, multi-national companies
- ideally experience in the creative industry, art event, film etcetera
- Fluent in English

OUR OFFER

- You will work in a full or half time position working on the world of tomorrow already today
- Bring in new ideas and take responsibility for own projects to grow the company together
- Young diverse team – we are professional but laugh a lot
- Come as you are - work in a truly tolerant, international team
- No bullshit-culture

In case of interest please send CV and a short letter explaining why you want to join us to: info@inuru.com or via post to Inuru GmbH, Johann-Hittorf-Str. 8, 12489 Berlin-Adlershof.